

WHAT DO I WANT FROM CORBYN?

A man under attack by the greedy because he is opposed to greed; by racists because he is anti racist; by the creators of and beneficiaries from unfairness because he advocates fairness; by colonisers killing indigenous people because he supports the oppressed; by warmongers because he stands against injustice imposed by military might; by imperialist fantasists because he is not an Empire delusionist; by the choosers of ignorance because his mind is not closed to knowledge; and, generally, by anyone who thinks that the freedom to exploit others is what freedom is all about. I want the following. The list could be longer.

1. Victory.

That would slow down and perhaps put an end to the fracking of society that began in 1979 and ought to have been reversed in 1997 but wasn't.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

2. Clarity on your intended relationship within or without the EU.

You voted to remain and emphasised the human rights benefits of membership. What happened to Greece highlights the extent to which the EU has discarded and perverted values based upon human rights. The benefits of working towards the restoration of those values are huge.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

And please do not represent the result of our referendum as somehow democratic. The Goddess Demokratia is ill served by lies. It was the Goddess Oligarkia that won that vote.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

3. A clear denunciation of the Labour Friends of Inhumanity.

You know that Zionism, whatever its different incarnations, is based upon false history. Along with Jewish historians you know that a religion is not a race. You have stood against Apartheid. You have never stood on the side of inhumanity.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

4. A clear proclamation of an intention to re-distribute wealth.

Inequality is bad for all, even the rich. There is a mass of research backing that up.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

5. A re-connection of our educational system to local and democratically accountable government.

Commercially competitive schools, colleges and universities set education to one side while they suck up to the Ofsteders of this world.

You know it Jeremy so say it.

6. Put an end to Trident.

The USA controls it so every time we build such a submarine all we are doing is to save them the cost of building an extra one.

You know it Jeremy so say it.
